

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to force their stations to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of media consolidation.

Sinclair uses the public airwaves free of charge, and is obligated by law to serve the public interest. Their blatant disregard of this through airing "Stolen Honor" with absolutely no attempt to air the opposition's "Going Upriver" shows why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. This shows why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Please take care of this problem in the moral and democratic way!!
